HOMEMADE MOUNDS CANDY BARS

---

BY: ANNALISE FROM SWEET ANNA'S

---

Make a healthier version of a candy copycat with this Homemade Mounds Candy Bars recipe. To make these scrumptious bars, you'll need honey, shredded coconut, dark chocolate chips and coconut oil. You'll love this delicate chilled dessert.

Ingredients:

- 2 1/2 cups flaked or shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup melted virgin coconut oil
- 1/4 cup raw honey (melted if it will be too firm to stir!)
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- Pinch of salt
- 1 1/2 cups dark chocolate chips
- 1 1/2 teaspoons virgin coconut oil

Directions:

1. In a large bowl, mix together the coconut, coconut oil, honey, vanilla and salt until well mixed. (The mixture may seem very greasy... don't worry about it. Everything will firm back up into a wonderful moist, chewy texture!)
2. Fill about 12-15 cups of a mini-muffin pan with the mixture, pressing down evenly and firmly. Place in the freezer to set for at least 30 minutes.
3. Melt the chocolate chips with the coconut oil. Spoon the chocolate evenly over the coconut in each cup, spreading smoothly. Place the pan back in to the freezer to set another 30 minutes.
4. Use a knife to gently pop each candy bar out of the pan and transfer to a freezer-safe Tupperware to store in the freezer or fridge. Or serve immediately!
5. These will get soft at room temperature for too long, so keep them cold until you are ready to serve them!
